How Race Bias and Privilege Appears in School Counseling?

ette Definitely needed this training when I was in our class and taking honors and advanced. I had the nerve to recommend I go to a community college at the University of Michigan - Ann Arbor despite my race.

Francis Joane Bernadette I am heartbroken to hear of you in high school. Honestly this still is a major issue in counseling, especially in Minnesota.

Coping with Racial Battle Fatigue

Weathering the cumulative effects of living in a society characterized by white dominance and privilege produces a kind of physical and mental wear-and-tear that contributes to a host of psychological and physical ailments.” -Dr. Ebony McGee, Vanderbilt University

What is Racial Battle Fatigue

Racial battle fatigue is defined as the social-psychological stress response associated with African-American at a historically oppressed institution. Signs of racial battle fatigue include frustration, anger, exhaustion, and maladaptive behaviors, depressive symptoms, and physical health concerns (Allen, & Danley, 2007). Some traditional coping methods, such as high effort or grit, can further perpetuate feelings of stress. Alternative coping strategies, such as being a part of a network, participating in

How Administration Can Support

- Have humility
- Push school counselors to be leaders with you
- Resistance to Change versus Capacity to Change (Accountability)

Who we do this for?

- Students
- Staff
- Families & Community

Proactively brainstorm and prepare ideas

- Need to Discuss Short-Term and Long-Term Expectations
- Write in your CPA how you will address race in your program

Steps to Prepare Your School Before a Race/Hate Incident

- Create a emergency plan with your Crisis/Climate Team – Who will communicate to students, staff and families? What is the district stance on hate speech? Annual equity and inclusive training for all staff.
- School Climate – past racial situations, School demographics. Hallway and classroom conversations. School pep rally and events. Who is marginalized at the school? Who is recognized and celebrated?
- Social Media – what negative things are trending?
- Proactive school wide lessons – Where during your school day do students talk about hate/bias? How it feels to be discriminated against? How to embrace other cultural identity? What anti hate and bias work is being done?
- Partner with community organizations and leaders from historically marginalized
- Encourage you school to hire more staff from underrepresented populations

Addressing The Silence

- Speak Up
- Its ok not to know the exact words
- What are you modeling?
- Have Humility
- Resist the urge to stay silent

For evil to succeed, all it needs is for good men and women to be silent.

- "In the end, we will remember not the words of our enemies, but the silence of our friends.
